Four members of staff at Newquay Property Centre, team estate agent in Newquay, are delighted to have secured the latest nationally-recognised industry qualification.

Four of the sales staff at the popular agency now hold the qualification, which has taken around two years to complete. Andrew Hopkinson, director; Daniel Peel, assistant manager; Zoë Machin and Ginette Butler Lee, sales negotiators at Newquay Property Centre, have all passed the National Federation of Property Professionals (NFOPP) Technical Award in Sales of Residential Property, which sets a standard for estate agents. The Award is the required qualification for entry to the National Association of Estate agents (NAEA), of which Andrew was already a member and the others will become.

The four have close to 50 years experience in estate agency between them. Andrew is extremely proud with the loyalty and dedication that Daniel, Zoe and Ginette have demonstrated. He said: “We decided to start our studies as a result of our combined, continued commitment for high standards in providing the best possible service to our clients and I am thrilled that we have all secured the Technical Award. For us, it is evidence of our professionalism and shows our clients that they are dealing with people who are knowledgeable and can be trusted to do a good job.”

The NFOPP Awarding Body is accredited by the Government’s Qualifications and Curriculum Authority, and offers nationally recognised qualifications across all disciplines in the property sector. The NFOPP Technical Award in Sale of Residential Property is a Level 3 qualification and covers Health and Safety, Security and General Law; Law relating to Residential Property; Practice relating to Residential Property Sales; and Property Appraisal and Basic Building Construction.

Based in the heart of Newquay and established in 1994, Newquay Property Centre specialises in property for sale in the popular resort and the surrounding areas, and offers an experience to suit every client’s needs, including the option of sale by auction. The agency’s professional and innovative approach has earned it a reputation for delivering a quality, professional service with excellent local knowledge and expertise, along with unrivalled nationwide marketing and associated services including surveying, EPC's and conveyancing via the team network.
