

A positive experience with Berwick & Berwick

Berwick & Berwick, team estate agent in St Ives, West Cornwall, is pleased to welcome Angie Cadwallader-Kemp as a property sales negotiator.

Angie, who lives in the harbourside town, has experience in residential property sales and a background in property and site sales, retail and business development as well as interiors and textile design. Having taken a break in her career, Angie has returned to the industry now her children are older and is thrilled with her role at Berwick & Berwick.

Angie said: “James and the gang here are really friendly and very professional – they’re a great bunch to work with. I thoroughly enjoy my job – the satisfaction of matching houses to clients and ensuring our vendors have a quick and enjoyable experience of selling their property; and always being available with advice, support and information to help their transaction go smoothly. Selling houses can be a stressful and anxious time for some and I am delighted to be back in the industry, sharing James’ aim to make the experience a positive one for everyone.”

Berwick & Berwick celebrates its 11th Anniversary in May and has built a reputation over the last decade based on outstanding levels of service, friendliness and professionalism. James and his wife Emma, who works alongside him in the agency, have always treated their clients as they would like to be treated – a policy which clearly works – and together with hundreds of other independent estate agents nationwide, Berwick & Berwick is part of the team network, which enables the agency to provide extensive marketing for its clients as well as what is effectively a multi-agency service for a sole agency fee. Properties for sale with team estate agents receive more internet coverage than those with other estate agents – an important factor to consider when over 85% of buyers begin their search for a new home online.
