Palmers Whitton & Laing thrives in a challenging market

- Hat trick of record sales for respected estate agent

Palmers Whitton & Laing, team estate agent in Budleigh Salterton has achieved a hat trick over the last three months with sales in November, December and January at an all-time high.

Despite challenging market conditions, the busy firm agreed more property sales in these months than in those of any other year in its trading history.

Richard Harman said: “We are very pleased with the last three months which are typically quiet for the property market in Budleigh Salterton. I like to think a combination of good honest advice and experience with strong marketing and hard work has helped us exceed expectations.”
