

Lewis Property Consultants welcomes Justin as Residential Sales Manager

Lewis Property Consultants, team estate agent in St Austell, is delighted to welcome Justin Knight as its Residential Sales Manager.

Established by Mark Lewis in 1998, Lewis Property Consultants is one of the most successful estate agencies in the town, serving St Austell and its surrounding areas, with an excellent reputation founded on the delivery of a professional and personal service along with the in-depth knowledge and expertise of Mark, his business partner Simon Tonkin and their loyal team of sales and lettings staff.

Both well known in the town, Mark and Justin have been estate agents in the local area since leaving school and their career paths have crossed many times.

On leaving school in 1988, Justin began training in estate agency and estate management with Mark's father – another name synonymous in the town's estate agency history – Paul Lewis, at May Whetter & Grose. Justin stayed with the firm for nine years, working alongside Mark in the early 1990's.

In 1998, Mark established Lewis & Company, which has since become Lewis Property Consultants, and Justin acquired the Par office of May Whetter & Grose on a franchise basis. Justin continued his role heading up the Par estate agency and took a brief sabbatical in 2011. Now, Justin has filled Mark's role in the St Austell office while Mark concentrates his efforts on a newly-acquired office in the north of the county.

Mark said: "Simon and I are thrilled that Justin has joined the team at Lewis Property Consultants. We've both come a long way since our days as teenage trainees and it's great to be working together again, albeit from different offices. Justin is a highly experienced and well liked local estate agent and as such, he was the ideal candidate to fill my shoes in the St Austell office."

Justin, who lives in Par with his two children, said: “I have known Mark since I started work and Simon since the early 1990’s, when he was a mortgage broker. They are both highly respected and very professional and I was delighted when the opportunity arose to become their Residential Sales Manager – I couldn’t refuse! The sales and lettings teams are a pleasure to work with, I’ve settled in quickly and I’m thoroughly enjoying my new role.”

Lewis Property Consultants offers a wide range of residential sales and lettings services, including auction as a route to market, related services such as conveyancing, EPC’s and surveying and holds the biggest portfolio of managed properties in town. Over the years, the agency has sold and let property for thousands of satisfied clients through extensive online and printed marketing as well as an in-depth knowledge and effective management of its applicant list.
