

TILE DEPOT

Press release – 21st January 2010

Porcelain favourite this season

- New ranges at Tile Depot

Tiles are back on trend for walls and floors. Hardwearing, practical and easy to clean, tiles continue to look wonderful for many years and represent an ideal investment.

Stone and stone-look tiles are extremely versatile, suiting traditional and contemporary rooms. Large format, particularly polished in neutral tones is highly desirable creating a natural appeal with a heightened sense of space. Co-ordination with mosaics, borders or feature tiles adds subtle pattern and unique interest.

Porcelain is the favourite this season, and Tile Depot is pleased to introduce some fabulous new ranges, which make a real impression on floors and walls in both homes and commercial interiors. Omaha is a stunning high-quality polished nano porcelain floor tile which transforms any room at 60 x 60cm in cream tones - at under £10sqm; Elite is an Italian 60cm x 60cm porcelain floor tile in a choice of four colours to suit any scheme – Coffee, Cream, Grey and Titanium at £35.97sqm;

River Blanco is a porcelain tile for walls and floors at 32.5 x 60cm with a light stone effect at £24.45sqm; and Tuscany Modular Beige, also a porcelain floor tile, has a light stone effect in beiges and browns and comes in a pack of tiles in various sizes to cover just under 1sqm at £29.99 per pack.

Tile Depot, the UK's largest independent tile and stone retailer stocks a massive choice of ceramic, porcelain and natural stone tiles along with mosaics, borders and feature tiles in glass and exquisite materials including natural shell and an extensive selection of wooden flooring as well as underfloor heating and all trims, grouts, tools and accessories to complete any job – all now also available to buy online.
