

Where there's muck there's money for Charity!

Hennings Moir, team estate agent in Saltash, has come up with a novel way of raising money for a local charity - by collecting discarded and old metal and taking it to the scrap yard.

The most recent load cashed in over £50 for Horizons - a Plymouth sailing charity, which provides boating activities for disabled and disadvantaged children. Local farmer, Reid Dawe helped out by providing the vehicle and cattle trailer to transport the metal.

Director of the busy estate agency, Steve Moir, said: "The idea came about after watching The Apprentice and having knocked down and old iron shed we had the start of a charity fundraiser."

Hennings Moir began actively supporting Horizons, which recently featured on the Channel 4 programme Secret Millionaire, in 2009 and is involved in fundraising events, has collection tins in the office and all members of staff regularly help out on the water as volunteers.

More information on the charity can be found at www.horizonsplymouth.org.
