

teamprop.co.uk property web site even better

Westcountry team is delighted to announce a brand new version of team Association's industry-leading web site, www.teamprop.co.uk, which was launched last week.

teamprop.co.uk has long enjoyed the reputation of being the UK's most accurate and up-to-date property site, courtesy of team's unique multi-listing technology, which ensures that all property information displayed is automatically updated every 15 minutes compared to an industry 'norm' of once every 24 hours.

The first thing you notice about the site today is an eye-catching new look and a clearer, more straightforward layout. However, this is much more than just a stylish makeover, according to Steve Moir, chairman of Westcountry team, who says: "The entire site has been totally redesigned and re-engineered from the ground up using the latest technology to make it easier to use than ever before, while at the same time incorporating a whole array of advanced features designed to give a much richer and enjoyable user experience."

Particular attention has been paid to the design of the site's all-important search function, to make it exceptionally fast and user-friendly. The quality of the photographs has also been enormously improved, utilising automatic visual optimisation to set new industry standards for clarity and printability, and enable properties to be displayed to the best possible advantage. Among the very latest features to be incorporated is a pdf download option as well as Google's revolutionary Street View.

All in all, these changes look guaranteed to further reinforce teamprop.co.uk's popularity with both buyers and sellers!

Details of your local team estate agent can be found in your local newspaper and at www.teamprop.co.uk.
